DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-3 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-5 of copending Application No. 11/135,436 in view of Takatsu et al [Pat. No. 3,914,454]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the steaming and cooling of Takatsu et al into the method of '436 since both are directed to methods of making a rice product, and since the steaming and cooling of Takatsu et al provided an effective means for gelatinizing the starch.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection.

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The application does not appear to disclose "boiling the rice having an oil film over the surface of each rice grain". While there appears to be support for the rice having an oil layer due to frying, there is no disclosure of the rice having oil film during the final boiling.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takatsu et al [Pat. No. 3,914,454].

Takatsu et al teach a method for making fried-boiled rice by washing and soaking the rice (column 3, line 5), steaming the rice (column 3, line 3, line 9), coating the rice with oil to individuate it (column 1, lines 61-67), drying with cool air at 20°C (column 2, line

Art Unit: 1761

7), frying the rice which results in oil absorption and coating (column 2, lines 15-34), adding seasonings (column 2, line 68), boiling the rice (column 3, line 15), and the rice product inherently possessing the properties of claims 2-3.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tanaka et al [Pat. No. 3,600,192], Ando et al [Pat. No. 4,166,868], Weibye [Pat. No. 4,385,074], Tolson Sr et al [Pat. No. 3,870,804], and GB 1280436 teach methods of cooking rice.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Regarding deoiling, applicant argues that this would eliminate the oil film. However, Takatsu et al teach that deoiling simply reduced the amount of excess oil, rather than eliminating all of the oil (column 2, lines 35-51).

Applicant argues that application 11/135,436 did not claim frying between cooling and boiling. However, the present claims do not require any particular order to the processing steps. Regardless, claim 1 of 11/135,436 recites frying before boiling. Furthermore, claim 5 of application 11/135,436 recites freezing.

Conclusion

Art Unit: 1761

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
